Lawyer with training and experience in construction law as well as in the conduct of dispute resolution mechanisms. Romina has gained outstanding expertise and technical skills in matters, with focus on construction sector. She advises companies, mainly construction companies or companies that develop construction projects, in matters related to the preparation and management of construction contracts, as well as in the prevention and resolution of disputes arising during the execution of the Contract, through dispute boards, conciliation, and/or arbitration, among other mechanisms. She is actively involved in advising on the management of construction and maintenance contracts by service level, as well as in national arbitrations particular relating to construction contracts concluded with the State. Likewise, she has participated in advisory services for the structuring and execution of construction projects under FIDIC schemes in their various forms (Red, Yellow and Silver) and under other standard forms of contract as NEC 3. She regularly advises on the management of construction projects under these contracts.

Her specialty in the use and management of dispute resolution mechanisms is reinforced by having participated in the administration and conduct of arbitration proceedings, among others.
